DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

2. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it is too short. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

3. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

4. Claims 9-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The claims are drawn to the non-statutory category of software per se.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Suorsa et al.

(7,131,123).

7. Suorsa teaches a method and system (abstract) of managing and configuring remote agents (col. 1, line 1 – col. 5, line 15; col. 19, line 35 – col. 20, line 15) based on web services (col. 5, line 15 – col. 6, line 67) wherein the remote agent operates through a firewall, VPN (col. 7, lines 1-55) or proxy server (col. 11, lines 1-10). A manager configures a remote agent (col. 7, line 55 – col. 8, line 55) via a central console (col. 8, line 50 – col. 9, line 20; col. 12, lines 10 - 40) by communicating via a remote agent's management interface (col. 9, lines 20 – 40; col. 14, lines 20-25) so that the manager may examine the agent (col. 9, line 40 – col. 10, line 10) and then examine it (col. 10, lines 10-67).

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. They regard further teachings on remote agent configuration and on web services.
